BLUES

The blues is many things to many people but to me it is a form of expression, not something that should be worked out or written down, it should be raw and honest and straight from the heart.

Quite often the most magical moments are those that are unplanned.

Most of the performances captured in these recordings were spontaneous and improvised with nothing (including lyrics) worked before hand, we just went into the studio and played.

This is a collection of blues recorded while I was in Hong Kong, all feature the exceptionally talented guitarist Patrick Murdoch who I was lucky enough to meet while over there. It is a mix of electric and previously unreleased acoustic tracks.

Enjoy!
